

Being creative with the pen

Yes, I have now and then.

I love the way,

You can make eyes in clay.

Write on CD's,

With amazing ease.

Draw on a postcard,

By not pressing too hard.

Tuck it behind your ear,

So it is always near.

Scribble on your hand,

If paper can't be found.

Using a thumb,

Sound like a drum.

So nothing gets missed,

Write a to-do list.

But writing a letter,
That could be better.

Draw or doodle,
Perhaps of a poodle.

Scribble notes on paper,
For researching later.

When the weather is balmy,
Try origami.

Draw a cartoon,
Of the man in the moon.

Write the lyrics to a song,
But don't make it too long.

When you're asleep,
Pen in your sheep.

Draw a stick-figure,
And then make him bigger.

Read someone's fiction,
Correcting the diction.

Tell a child it's a rose,
And shove it up her nose.

I'll have to come clean,
I need some caffeine.
